

Foreign Rights Catalogue 2014

Dear colleagues and friends!

With this catalogue we proudly present the publisher's list of G&G Verlag, Ueberreuter Kinder- und Jugendbuchverlag and Annette Betz. Since January 2014 those three imprints share a joint management in Vienna. Ueberreuter Kinder- und Jugendbuch and Annette Betz Verlag remain situated in Berlin and keep their characteristic titles.

The Foreign Rights department is managed by our two offices in Vienna and in Berlin.

If you have any questions, do not hesitate to contact us.

Enjoy reading our catalogue!

With warm wishes,

Ursula Holler and Julia Balogh

G&G was founded by Georg Glöckler in 1998 and has become Austria's leading Publishing House for children's books and learning aids. In January 2014 Georg Glöckler bought Ueberreuter Kinder- und Jugendbuchverlag and Annette Betz and is now the head of all the three imprints. G&G specialises on the encouragement of the reading competence and motivation of children and young adults. G&G stands for gorgeous picture books, fun children's books and quality young fiction – with a strong backlist including some award-winning children's book classics – as well as learning aids. We're proud to work with authors like Felix Mitterer, Franz Sales Sklenitzka, Friedl Hofbauer, Lene Mayer-Skumanz, Edith Schreiber-Wicke, Robert Klement and more.

Annette Betz was founded in Munich in 1962 and was owned by Ueberreuter Verlag from 1966 until 2013. Annette Betz Verlag publishes books for children up to eight years of age. Its programme consists of picture books, songbooks and series, combining high literary and artistic quality. To mark its Fiftieth anniversary, the publishing house released a selection of its best-known picture books in a new format in 2013. The titles include e. g. Ich hab ein kleines Problem, sagte der Bär by Heinz Janisch and Silke Leffler. The beautifully illustrated musical picture books give young children a gentle introduction into the world of classical and modern music. Thanks to the age-appropriate form, even pre-school children can enjoy operas such as The Magic Flute or classical pieces like The Moldau.

Ueberreuter was founded by the Salzer family in 1946. In spring 2012 Ueberreuter moved from Vienna to Berlin. Ueberreuter Kinder- und Jugendbuch publishes realistic and fantasy literature for children and young adults. The spring 2014 list includes the sequel of Andrea Schütze's funny character Count Coriander. Bradley Buxbaum writes a strong debut with Cactus Kid and Jens Schumachers Asmoduin, the nuisance from hell, is back, eating even more chocolate bars! In the young adult section, Wolfgang Hohlbein's books are timeless fantasy classics. In realistic fiction, Carolin Philipps writes sensitive yet page turning books on issues such as child abuse, prostitution and bullying.

A big parcel arrives – how exciting! And then there's a talking stuffed elephant inside it. Anton can hardly believe his luck and sets off on an adventurous expedition with his new friend. Together, they climb Mount Kilimanjaro, meet lions in the steppes and swing from vine to vine in the jungle. It's a very exciting afternoon – until Anton's mum interrupts. The parcel was actually meant for Luise next door...

Butscher

Martin Fuchs/Nina Helbig
32 full colour pages, 21 x 29 cm
Publication date: March 2014
☀ All rights available

It's Butscher the puppy's very first spring. Oh, how he'd like to be a bird instead of a dog! They sing so beautifully but all he can say is "woof". His friend Boller explains that if he was a bird, he'd only do little droppings instead of big poos. He'd have to watch out for cats instead of chasing them. And with his lovely loud barks, Butscher can protect Jolla the lady dog in the farmyard. That wins him over and from now on, he's happy to be a dog.

- Kids' favourite: a cute puppy to win

Little Beethoven
Kristina Dumas/Lisa Hansch
 32 full colour pages, 30,5 x 24 cm
 Publication date: April 2014
 🎵 All rights available

“Da-da-da ... daaaa ... da-da-da ... daaaa,” goes the orchestra. The well-known fifth symphony is Kristina Dumas’s start for her story of Ludwig van Beethoven. Where did this famous composer come from? Did little Ludwig like playing practical tricks? (Oh yes, sometimes!) And how could he compose such wonderful music later in life, after he lost his hearing? Insightful and exciting, this book introduces readers and listeners young and old to the life and of course to the music of Ludwig van Beethoven.

Kristina Dumas has written and produced numerous radio features on classical music with and for children.

- The life of Ludwig van Beethoven presented for children
- High identification potential through special focus on the famous composer’s childhood
- Accompanying CD contains the entire book text and numerous musical examples

Orpheus was about to marry Eurydice but a poisonous snake bit her which sent her to the Underworld. Orpheus went down to the Underworld to free Eurydice. There he has to fight against furies and Cerberus, the hellhound, before he can liberate Eurydice.

The Bird That Planned to Wed

Irmgard Harrer/Katrin Oertel/Marco Annau
32 full colour pages, 24 x 30 cm
Publication date: January 2014

🎵 All rights available

The goose and the coot played the flute. The blackbird and the thrush are about to get married and the birds are in the middle of the wedding preparations. Everyone is excited and they all make suggestions about which composers should be played at the ceremony: Bach, Mozart or maybe Verdi? The young couple, however, don't really approve of any of these. Finally, they decide to sing themselves, together with their guests. And what are they going to sing? The old song 'The bird that planned to wed', of course!

Throstling kludgefists, who's disturbing his peace? Count Coriander, the last of the gnotroll species, is not at all happy when the Kramer family moves into the old porter's lodge with all their belongings. They're stomping and bumping around right above his grotto! All the little gnotroll wants is peace and quiet to look for the recipe for invisibility soup. One thing's for sure, these noisy kids have to go! But the Count hasn't counted on the twins Jette and Justus...

- Strong characters, funny dialogues, amusing illustrations
- Cheeky mythical character!

Ratio Glimm, the son of two world-famous scientists, lives on a lonely polar island. At the age of ten, he pays his first visit to his cousin Miriam. She's a cheeky young thing, not at all like sensible Ratio. On the other hand, he does have excellent skills for trying out new tricks – he can walk through walls and talk to atoms! But their fun comes to an end when unscrupulous powers abuse Ratio's parents' scientific findings to try to manipulate people...

- A clever new hero in an outsider role
- Confident, unconventional and extremely funny
- Incredible inventions to make every reader green with envy
