Every morning at 10 a.m. the dog Max leaves the ferry, walks through the little town on the island and finally lies down in the shadow of the church. But what is he looking for? He tells a different story to everyone who asks: he's escaping from an amorous cat, he waits for his lost father or he tries to catch a thief who has stolen his burse. When the girl Lina wants to know why he is lying, Max is disgusted. He does not lie, he is just telling stories!

The great storyteller Christine Nöstlinger has written a charming picture book about storytelling; exciting, funny and at the same time with touching earnestness.

Sigi becomes furious when he finds out that his sister Sisi is lying – especially when she talks about her strange friend Florenz Tschinglbell. This girl with vampire teeth lives in an advertising pillar, her shoe size is 50 and she has a yellow dog with sharp fangs. Tschinglbell hates when someone calls her without a reason through the toilet telephone. Then she might get angry very quickly, come up the stairs and ring at the door....

One of Nöstlinger's most beloved stories is finally published as a single book.

Christine Nöstlinger studied in Vienna before she started to write. Since 1970 she published more than a hundred children's and young adult's books. Most of them have been translated into many languages and have become Classics. Apart from many other prizes she was also the first author to win the Astrid-Lindgren-Memorial-Award.

Maria Karpidou was born in 1978 in Stuttgart. She studied visual communication and she loves comics and cartoons of the 60th.

Elfriede Wimmer writes childrens books and works as a Coach. Her main subject is the small and big problems of children. In her books she writes about children`s worries and fears. She teaches them very sensitively how to be self-confidence.

Petra Probst has been illustrating children`s books for 30 years in several publishing houses in Germany, Italy, France, China and Korea.

Sometimes when Vin is angry, he feels a strange murmur in his stomach. Sometimes something hurts in his throat as if he had absorbed one of Grandmas dumplings. Dad says these are Vins feelings. But Vin cannot believe he has feelings, because he has never seen any of them!

This picture book makes feelings for Vin and other children visible and comprehensible. Vin lets appear „Sad“ the little monster with its wrinkled face in clay, „Happy“ with its little crown, the dangerous „Fury“ and „Fear“ who looks like a dirty towel. And at the end he even manages to lure out the sparkling, wonderful „Luck“ ...
Elfriede Wimmer tells a funny, smart story about the feeling-monsters and helps children to realize their feelings and to live with them
